Legal: Marlborough Hts, Blk 2, W 61' of Lot 5 A gabled hood and two street-facing gables, each in front of the other, help form a charming version of the bungalow style. The one story house has a medium, cross gable roof with exposed rafter ends and perforated barge boards on the street-facing gable end. The lower right part of the house roof is extended forward to form the right half of the porch gable roof which has an identical barge board design. A gabled hood supported by braces is centered on the enclosed porch and shelters the entrance stoop. The hood has similar perforations. The porch may have been open at one time but is now enclosed. The street facing porch windows are replacements. Other details of the house include horizontal clapboard siding with corner boards, vents in some gable ends, and double hung windows. A hood that shades a window on the right front is not original.
